Byco on the growth trajectory

Pakistan Limited (PSX: BYCO) has FY18, announced only yesterday on been seen improving profitability the stock exchange, is another depicamid rising petroleum volumes sold tion of the company's improving funand its expanding retail outreach. In damentals - though it is still too early its latest full year performance (i.e. to predict what route the earnings FY17), BYCO's earnings went up by would take in the overall fiscal year. over 50 percent. It has been investing The firm's net revenues were up by in not only its retail expansion like almost 90 percent year-on-year in other OMCs, but also in reviving its 120,000 bpd refinery back into operations.

The oil company's financial perfor-

Since FY15, Byco Petroleum mance for the first three months of thing that was missing in the previous 1QFY18, and while the similar period last year also witnessed rising volumes, the current quarter benefited from rising oil prices as well - some-

The quarter saw a staggering improvement in gross margins, while the net margin increase was somewhat affected by higher exchange losses and lower other income during the quarter.

The company has also been working on modernizing its logistic operations, for which it is inducting new oil tankers and lorries for safe transportation across the country.